Don't You Say You Love Me

High, high, high, high, high, high
I've got just one year left, I know it's fading
I don't want to be your baby, don't need to be your baby, don't want to be your baby

You and I we both know you did me wrong, after all I gave you and know it's gone
Don't you say you love me, I know you don't, you're done with all your choosin'
I'm not bout to sink more than what I had, I'm not out for blood, boy, you should be glad Cause people tend to get what they got comin', and you've got it bad

I've got just one year left, (I don't need to be your baby) I know it's fading
I've got just one year left, (I don't want to be your baby) and you've got it bad
I've got just one year left, (I don't need to be your baby) I know it's fading
Don't you say you love me I know you don't, and you've got it bad

[Real J. Wallace]
When the water breaks, how long does it take to fill a lake, and not to fill my heart up full of hate?
I done loathed enough to solvent up and open up, and if we bein' honest I don't know my soul enough
And if I'm being honest I don't think you know it either, and being honest's probably not the best procedure
I just want to lie to you a thousand times, but instead I looked her in her eyes as she cried

I've got just one year left, (I don't need to be your baby) I know it's fading
I've got just one year left, (I don't want to be your baby) and you've got it bad
I've got just one year left, (I don't need to be your baby) I know it's fading
